

A devious man

Patrick and Sue went home by bus after school today. They were chatting with each other. A man sat opposite them. He was talking on his phone while a girl was listening to music.

After a while, the girl got off the bus but she left her wallet on her seat. The man sitting beside her noticed that there was a wallet. The man wanted to look inside the wallet. He opened the wallet and saw one-hundred dollar banknotes. Patrick and Sue were surprised. They told the man to give the wallet and money to the police officers but the man did not listen to them. He took the money and put it in his pocket. Patrick and Sue thought the man was deceitful. They called the police.

At last, the police caught the man. The girl got her money and wallet back so she was elated. She said thank you to Patrick and Sue.
